Probable Damage

This aerial photograph shows a school campus with several buildings and parking lots. The buildings are marked with red and yellow areas indicating potential damage. A large red area is on the roof of a building in the upper center. Another red area is on the roof of a building in the lower center. Yellow areas are scattered across various roofs, including a large one on the left, several on the central building, and one on the right. The campus is surrounded by parking lots filled with cars, a red tennis court in the top left, and green grassy areas.
